

Contact: Steven Volk
Volk Video Services
stevenvolk@volkvidio.com
248.203.9801

Volk Video Services Earns Award

May 12, 2006 – Birmingham – Volk Video Services has earned the award for best “Interactive Electronic Presentation” by the International Association of Business Communicators (IABC) Detroit Chapter for “The Kensington Academy Experience,” a DVD produced in collaboration with Kensington Academy in Beverly Hills.

The award will be presented at the 25th Annual IABC/Detroit Renaissance Awards on June 22. Steven Volk, president of Volk Video Services, served as producer, editor and designer of the project. “It has proved to be a valuable recruitment tool for this prestigious school, said Volk, “it contains current information, unlike printed material that is often out-of-date as soon as it is printed.” The DVD is divided into 19 easily navigated sections and includes applications for admissions and financial aid.

"We are honored to have received such a prestigious award," said Amanda Chaborek, Director of Admission and Public Relations at Kensington Academy. "We wanted to show families our cutting-edge facility and programs and we felt that the best and most effective way to do so was through an interactive DVD viewbook. It has been an incredibly successful recruiting tool for us and we couldn't have done it without Steven's expertise and guidance."

Volk Video Services offers a wide range of services to preserve video tapes, movies and recordings including the “Family TIME Video” which are fast paced presentations created from video and photographs with music and professional editing to mark special occasions, birthdays and weddings. To contact Volk Video Services call 248.203.9801 or visit the website: www.volkvideo.com.

Volk Video Services is a member of The Home Video Studio TAKEONE Network, a national association of professional video companies committed to exceptionally high standards of service.

- end -